Since the reform and open policy, the construction of government under the rule of law has made remarkable achievements in China, but there is a distance towards the requirements of rule by law. The eighteen session of the Fourth Plenary Session clarifies further the basic characteristics of the government under the rule of law, specifies a clear direction for the construction of the government under the rule of law, and sets up a bridge for the construction of government under the rule of law by building a scientific framework of administrative law enforcement system. The eighteen session of the Fourth Plenary Session also provides a full range of protection for the construction of the government under the rule of law by establishing five systems, clears obstacles of the construction of government under the rule of law by recognizing the objective existence of the realistic problems, and paves the way for the construction of government under the rule of law by finding out the correct path.
