

---

210009

[1]

[2]

80

[3]

[4]

---

[1]Acar Muhittin, Guo Chao, and Saxton Gregory D.. Managing Effectively in a Networked World. The Public Manager, 2007, 36(2),p.23.

[2]

2012 1

[3]

1996 20

[4]

2009 3

---

2+2 4

[1]

1976

[2]

[3]

1995

20 90

2004

2007

[4]

---

[1]

2007 1

[2]

2002

[3]

1987

[4]

2014 1

---

[1]

[2]

[3]

[4]

2012

---

200

4

[1]

5

1885

60%

5143

2003

3%

5%

0.6%

GDP 2.45%

2013

R&D

1450

3.3%

18.1

---

[1]

1996 234

270 2016/1

---

---

---

1+1 2

It is hard to achieve lasting social stability merely by means of government management in the current complicated society; therefore, there is a need for a new social theory to guide the governance; as a result, coordinated governance is emerging, providing the theoretical foundation for social management. Talent management is a vital part of coordinated governance. Coordinated governance of talents is of far-reaching significance talent management; coordinated; good governance